FOREWORD

A year has passed, and we, the annual staff have strived to capture the events of the past year through the Chiloccoan.

As you turn the pages of this memory book you will see the smiling faces and the happy moments that have passed. Now they are only memories that have been recorded for you.

As the Chiloccoan ends, the future for the students of Chilocco has not ended, for their opportunities are great because as one door closes, another will open.

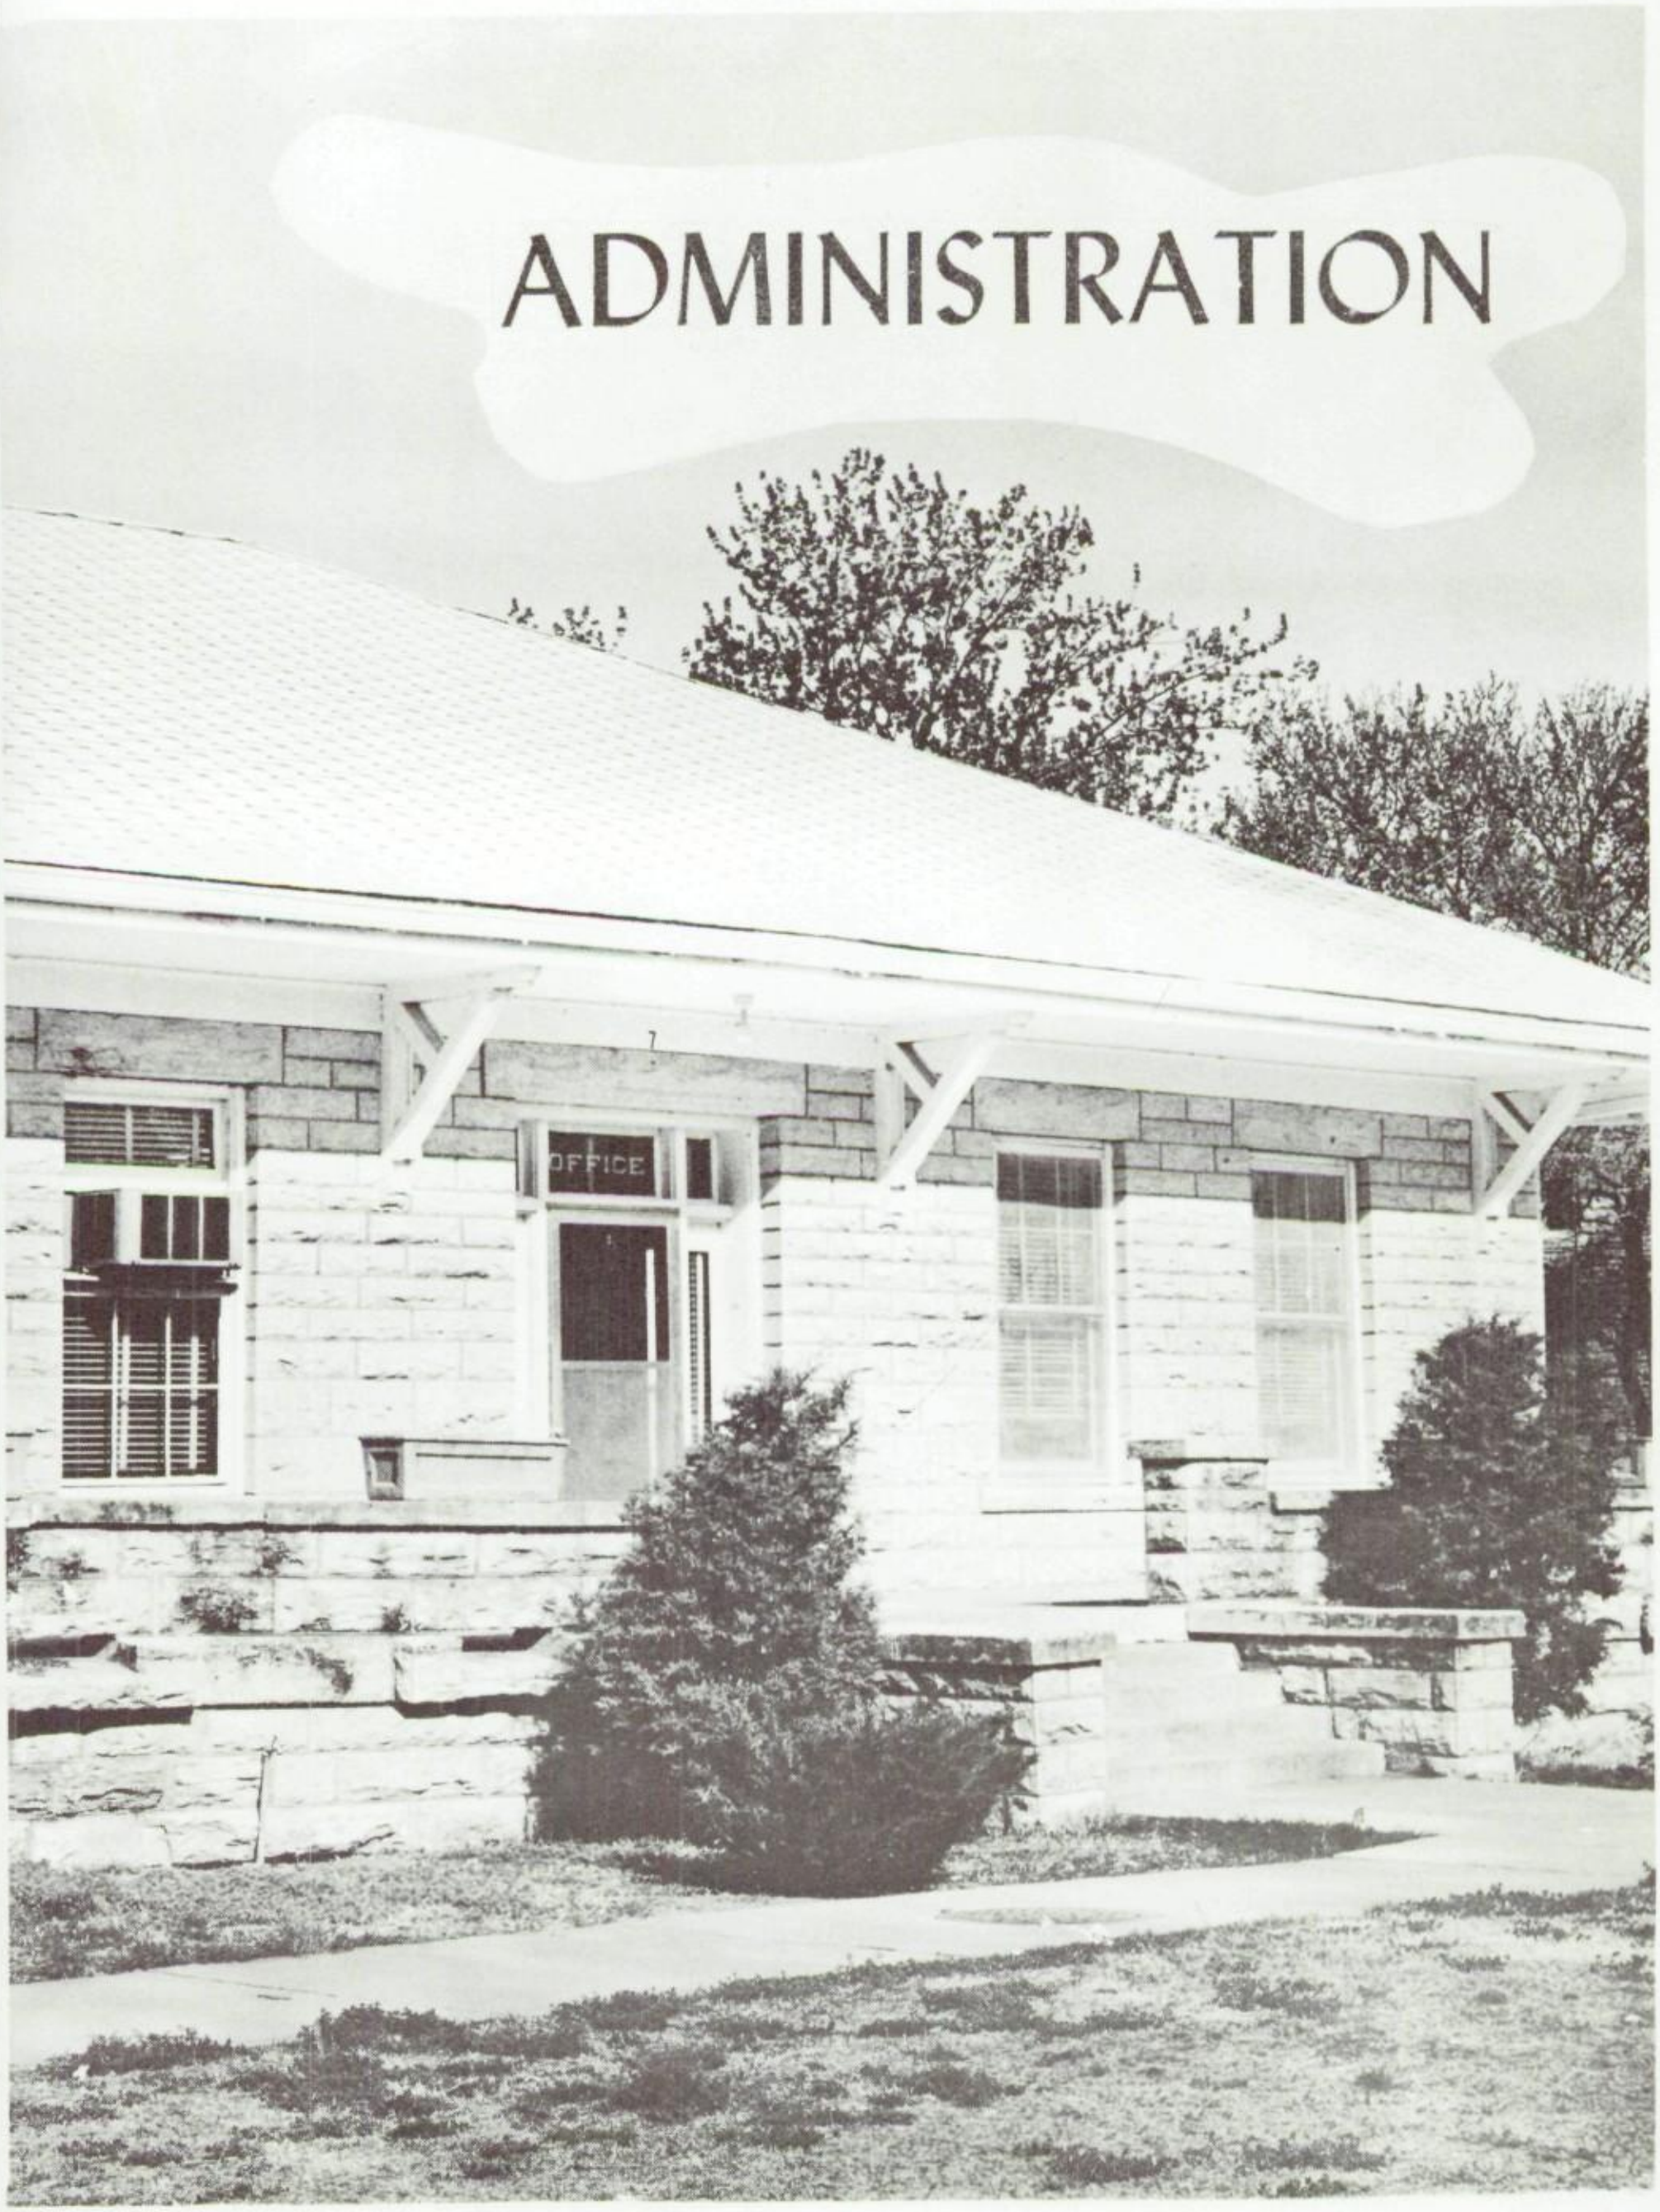
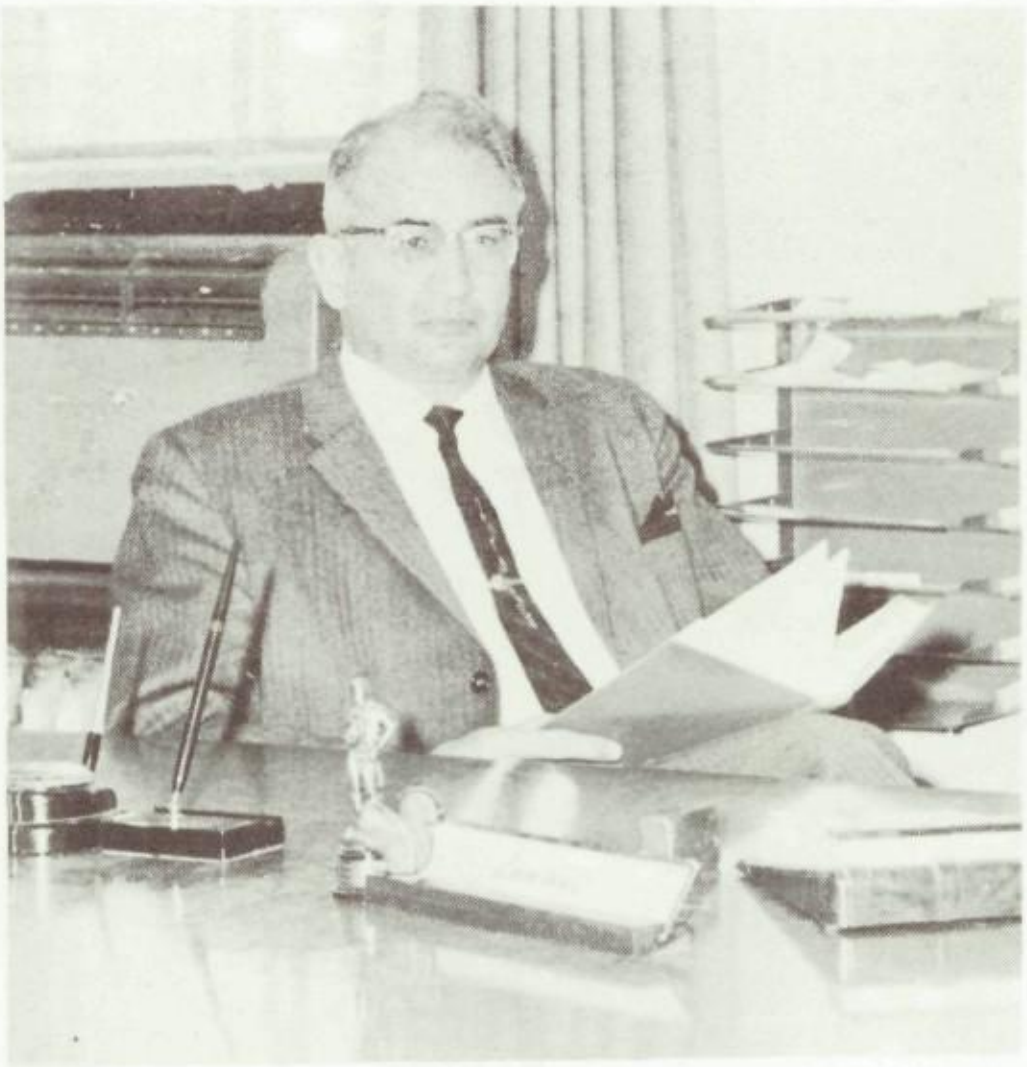
DEDICATION

The senior class of nineteen hundred and sixty four proudly dedicates the Chiloccoan to Mr. Miles H. Bollinger, High School Academic Department Head. The senior class will long remember Mr. Bollinger for his continuous interest in assisting the student body, his guidance, and his integrity in making our school superior.

ADMINISTRATION





Dr. Leon Wall, Superintendent

It is rewarding to look back over a year of work and feel that worthwhile performance has been accomplished. During this year almost 1200 Indian boys and girls have taken advantage of at least some of the education offerings at Chilocco. This, we believe, is a step forward toward self-realization on the part of Indian boys and girls. We are sure that their life has been greatly enriched and their experiences broadened by associating in a society made up of peers and faculty members as is found at Chilocco.

To our graduating classes let us extend heartiest congratulations. We hope that commencement is the beginning for greater accomplishment. To our undergraduates, let us hope that you will continue in giving yourself as many educational experiences as is possible and that you will return to Chilocco to take advantage of your opportunity for more education.

George W. Walker. Principal

Dear Graduates

We extend our sincere congratulations to the Chilocco graduates of 1964. Your diploma is evidence of your sincere efforts, your strong determinations, and your high ambitions. Competency in your vocational skills and academic accomplishments are but stepping stones and an incentive to greater achievements in your future lives. Commencement is the beginning of new opportunities to continue your education in your chosen academic field or seek employment in your vocation. May your future decision be based on the wise guidance and counseling you have received from your teachers, advisers, and administrators while a student at Chilocco. Whatever you do, we encourage you to do your best to make a worthwhile contribution to your community. We wish you happiness and success in a world that is filled with excitement and unbelievable accomplishments.
